sitioned in international waters off the shores of the United States and other nations fight now," this official said.

The U.S. intelligence vessels—which listen in on the radio traffic of other countries, spot radar sites and gather information to permit jamming them—and the Soviet Union's deep sea intelligence ships are parts of an extensive electronic intelligence system which has grown up in the Cold War years.

There are spy-in-the-sky satellites, both Soviet and American, whirling about the earth with almost unbelievably accurate cameras and "ferret" listening devices for eavesdropping on radio communications.

There are unmanned drones with sensitive information-gathering equipment. There are destroyers carrying "black boxes" which slip close to hostile shores to intercept radio talk, record coded messages and pick up other information. One of the two U.S. destroyers involved in the historic Tonkin Gulf attack by North Vietnamese patrol boats in August 1964 reportedly had been on such a mission.

The United States and Soviet Union, say nothing about what they know of the other side's electronic snooping from space. But the U.S. Navy complains out loud about the operations of the Soviet "trawlers," some of which get into the flow of fleet traffic and sometimes interfere with carrier and other operations.

Members of Congress also have expressed alarm about increasingly active Soviet naval snooping.

Soviet trawlers have been reported standing off Polaris submarine bases at Holy Loch, Scotland, at Rota, Spain, Guam, and Charleston, S.C.

The Red trawlers monitored U.S. nuclear weapons tests in the Pacific in 1962.

U.S. vessels have taken positions in the Pacific to observe the re-entry and splashdown of Soviet intercontinental ballistic missiles fired into the mid-Pacific.

A Soviet intelligence-gathering trawler, the Anemometer, collided with a U.S. intelligence ship, the Banner, in the Sea of Japan in June 1966.

The 935-ton Pueblo is one of three of her class, all converted light cargo vessels.

She has about eight whip antennas, and two heavy masts hung with special electronic gear.

The Pueblo engages in hydrographic surveys as well as electronic intelligence, dropping devices into the water to measure its temperature at various levels, its salinity and its density.

All these factors are important in antisubmarine warfare work because they affect the penetration of sonar beams.

Breaking in a New Senator Requires Time and Patience

By JAMES MARLOW
AP News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It takes chickens a long time to roost in the Senate. But by then they're not chickens any more. They're oldtimers. Three oldtimers are leaving this year. But the men who succeed them are no kids.

The typical Senate newcomer plays it quiet a few years before trying to assert himself and even then it takes more years before he obtains real power by becoming chairman of one of the Senate's standing committees.

That's taken care of by the seniority system, religiously observed. Translated into simple English it means: Take your time and wait your turn.

It goes like this: A newcomer has to wait in line behind all the party's other senators who have been there longer. He starts out as the low man on the committee.

Then as the years pass and one by one those ahead of him disappear because of death, resignation (which seldom happens), retirement or failure to get re-elected, he moves up until finally the chairman disappears and he becomes chairman.

Harry S. Truman was a typical example of the newcomer, but not of how any senator usually winds up. In his first six Senate years back in the 1930s, Truman was practically invisible, he talked so little.

Re-elected in 1940 he got himself named chairman of a special committee—not one of those standing committees—and made a name for himself investigating committees—and made a name for himself investigating American defense. From there he went to the vice presidency and presidency.

Robert F. Kennedy is a non-typical senator. He had a lot to say right from the start. But he had something working for him: He came from an unusual family and was elected under unusual circumstances.

As an example of what seniority means: In the Senate there are 16 standing committees. All the chairmen are Democrats because Democrats are in a majority in the Senate.

Waiting in their seniority line for the day when the Democrats lose their majority are the Republicans.

Of the 16 Democratic chairmen one, Sen. Carl Hayden of Arizona, is 90. He's been in Congress 56 years. Six others are in their 70s. Six are in their 60s. Two are in their 50s. Only one, Sen. Russell B. Long of Louisiana, is under 50. He's 49.

If the Democrats lose Senate control the top-ranking Republicans on these committees will be the new chairmen. As a group they are even older than the Democratic chairmen.

Seven are over 70, eight are in their 60s, and only one, Sen. Thomas H. Kuchel of California, is under 60. He's 57.

In recent weeks three oldtimers on these committees—all in their 70s—announced they were retiring from the Senate this year.

They are: 1, Lister Hill, Alabama Democrat, and chairman of the Labor and Public Welfare Committee. At 73 he is giving up after 44 years in Congress, 30 of them in the Senate.

(The next Democrat in line to succeed Hill is no chicken, either. He's Wayne Morse of Oregon, 67. But whether Morse takes over from Hill depends upon the Democrats' ability to retain a majority in this year's election and Morse's ability to win re-election.)

2, Bourke B. Hickenlooper of Iowa, 71, ranking Republican on the Foreign Relations Committee. But the man who becomes ranking Republican on this committee when Hickenlooper leaves is even older than he is. He is Sen. George D. Aiken, 75, of Vermont.

3, Frank Carlson of Kansas, ranking Republican on the Post Office and Civil Service Committee. He's 75. The new ranking Republican on that committee will be a Hawaiian, Hiram L. Fong, 60.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Those battling brothers, the Smothers, appear to have reached an agreement for peaceful coexistence with their television network.

Tom and Dick Smothers fight each other only on their Sunday night variety show. There of-screen combativeness has lately been directed at CBS, which they believed was taking a stiff-necked attitude about some of the topical humor the boys were attempting.

CBS censors applied a heavy pencil, the Smothers claimed, to jokes about President Johnson, the Vietnam war, dope, protest and other topics. "The worst came when they eliminated an 11-minute routine on censorship by Elaine May," said Tom, adding gleefully: "The whole thing was later printed in the New York Times."

The climax of the Smothers' winter of discontent came last month when they went to England for the beginning of the show on television there. In interviews they said there flatly that network interference had made the show intolerable and they intended to quit.

"We meant it," declared Dick, the bass-playing straight man of the act. "We were going to finish out the season so CBS wouldn't lose money on sponsorship and would have time to line up another show. But we had definitely decided not to continue."

"Absolutely," added Tom, the comical brother. "Why should we absorb that kind of punishment? Here we were trying to do a show that said something about what is happening today, and they were thwarting us at every turn. Who needs it?"

Both surmise that the London declarations convinced CBS of the seriousness of their intentions. They report that the censorship situation has greatly improved since they returned to the show early this month.

"Let's face it: CBS had a lot to lose," observed Dick. "We were the first show that could make any headway against 'Bonanza'."

"We also have been able to get the young crowd; our biggest audience is between 16 and 18," added Tom. "That's an important segment, and it shows that we are speaking their language."

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The Republican leadership of the 90th Congress, in an hour provided by CBS Tuesday night, chose to use it to present "a picture of our party—how we look, how we feel," as House Minority Leader Gerald Ford said.

A picture, however, is helped by its frame, and the frame—or format—in which the Republicans chose to answer and criticize President Johnson's State of the Union address did not help a bit.

After a brief introductory message from former President Dwight D. Eisenhower, 14 senators and congressmen stood in turn before the cameras and a live, applauding audience, and read—their prompting devices often were visible—brief, formal, campaign-style speeches on subjects ranging from taxation and government spending to strife in Vietnam and tension in the Middle East.

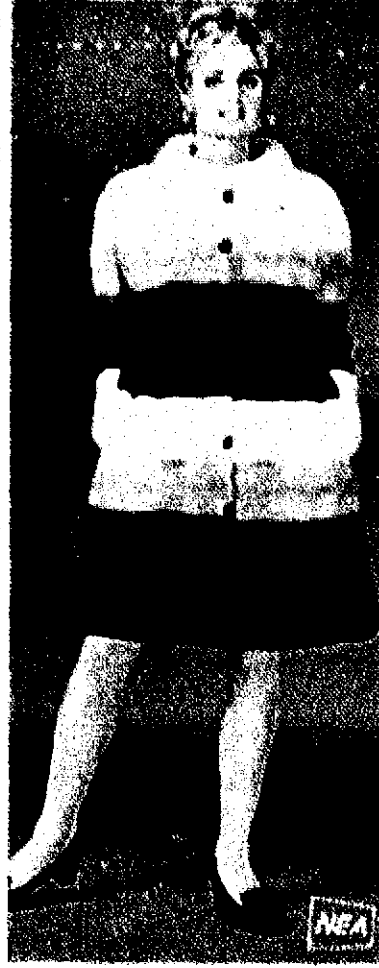

The administration, of course, came under sharp attack from most speakers. Despite the efforts of the moderator, Sen. George Murphy of California, to inject a lighter, informal note in his introductions, the hour dragged by. It was too crowded, too busy, and had too many people trying to cover large complicated subjects in a few words.

Television is an intimate medium and the producers of the program erred in trying to carry a party rally into the living room.

Some of the speakers—particularly Rep. Ford and Rep. Melvin Laird—were more interesting and incisive when they were interviewed off-the-cuff as part of a panel appearing on ABC immediately following President Johnson's address last week.

Actress Helen Hayes will turn up as a "mystery guest" on ABC's daytime game show, "Treasure Isle." The program, which features treasure hunting by contestants on and around a man-made lagoon near Palm Beach, Fla., claims the distinction of being the only show in its category shot in an outdoor location.

Game shows are hardly Miss Hayes' specialty, but "Treasure Isle" is different. Her brother-in-law, John MacArthur, is one of the packagers of the series and also owns the lagoon, lagoon ARTISTRY IN FUR. A delicious concoction of four shades of milk from palest beige to darkest brown is this handsome coat designed by Mr. Fred for Fur & Sport.

CBS has chosen March 5 for its special "S. Hurok Presents — Part 2." The first 90-minute program last season was a critical triumph.

The new program will present pianist Artur Schnabel in his first television appearance in 10 years; Russian violinist David Oistrakh and the Bolshoi Ballet. All have performed under the aegis of Sol Hurok, this impresario named in the title.

Recommended tonight: "Laura," ABC, 9-11 EST, with Lee Remick Radzwill in her television debut in the title role of the suspense story, Robert Stack and George Sanders.

Send your teenage questions to YOUTH ASKED FOR IT, care of Helen Help US! this newspaper.

HUSBAND ALWAYS HAS THE LAST LAUGH

Dear Helen: My husband always gets the last laugh, usually at my or other women's expense. I quit taking him shopping after a clerk asked if I wore A-cup, B-cup, or C-cup, and he piped up with, "Would you believe—mug?"

Once I stopped laughing and told him men who knock women down all the time are just plain insecure. He came back with, "So? Women who knock men down are just plain lousy drivers." And, of course, he brought down the house.

I'm tired of playing straight man (or woman) to his punch lines. What can I do?—OUT-CLASSED

Dear Outclassed: Appreciate your quip-teaser. He's got class! Any time he pulls a funny, send it along. I'll be glad to print it.—H.

Dear Helen: It happened again and I'm steaming. This couple we know is full of big plans. They go for parties—the unusual kind that takes a lot of work. Then, at the last minute when it's too late to back out, they give me a frantic call: something's gone wrong, they need a little help. It ends up with us doing most of the work while they get the credit.

Today really tore it. This gal called to say something has goofed up their plumbing and we have the party at our house... and, oh, yes, about half the decorations and food weren't ready, so she'd just bring them over and we could whip them out in no time while we talked. It's the third time our house has been picked for THEIR party.

Stupid me, I said, "Okay," again and started vacuuming. But I got madder and madder as I cleaned, so I'm writing to you before I simmer down. Don't worry, I changed this enough so the couple will never be sure I wrote it... But I HOPE they won't.

der plenty!

What's your opinion of them?—PARTY POOPER
Dear P.P.: I'd say they're extra smart ones. Next time they announce a party, send your regrets early and "be out of town that week-end." Of course, if you "return unexpectedly" you might give them a ring and pop in on a celebration another sucker helped organize.—H.

Dear Helen: My sister is being married soon. She plans a big wedding with long gown and veil, three bridesmaids, a maid and matron of honor, flower girl, ring-bearer and a guest list of over 200.

But one thing bothers me. Her first marriage, at age 16, lasted three months and ended in an annulment.

Is it proper for her to have a big splash when it's really her second time around? My mother says as long as it will make her and her bridegroom happy, the plans are fine with her and Dad.—Y.R.

Dear Y: An annulment destroys the existence of a marriage from the beginning. Therefore your sister needn't consider herself a "second-timer." She may plan as big a wedding as she and her fiancé want and your folks can afford. But she'd better find substitutes for the veil and orange blossoms, symbols of virginity.—H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help YOU. She will also welcome your own amusing experiences. Address Helen Bittel in care of The Hope Star.

Replay With Bradley Is Ruled Out

Tournament Being Held

To the Sports Editor of the Bradley Pioneer:

Thank you for the compliments you gave us in your letter to the Hope Star editor. We are proud of our team and feel they are indeed one of the best in the state.

As for your invitation to play us again, I really don't see any need for it. In the first place, we have played Bradley four times this year, Bradley won three times and Hope once. This one time that we won seems to be bothering you immensely.

You said in your letter that the Bradley coach tried to change the game to a Saturday night. This is true, he called up on the day of the game and said one or two of his girls had a cold. I also asked him to play the girls game last that night so I could be there for the complete game. I had to accompany my junior girls to a tournament game earlier in the afternoon. He refused to do this so my girls were forced to play without their coach for one full half.

As to the question of whether Hope has improved or not since you beat them 36 points early in the season, the answer is pretty evident since we beat you only a few weeks ago.

You mentioned the amount of publication this game received. You should have realized that when you did finally get beaten everyone in the state would be interested in hearing about it, particularly the teams you might have beaten through the years.

So in conclusion, we are sorry, but we don't see any need to play you a fifth time. As for your girls being affected by the flu that night, I must call to the attention of everyone that all the Bradley players were present and all six starters played as usual. The one fact above all remains that the score at the end of the game was Hope 61, Bradley 60, and in my book and everyone else's, this means Hope won and Bradley lost!

Continued good luck to your outstanding team. Sincerely,
CHARLOTTE GIBSON
Coach, Hope Ladycats

Long Ball Damaging Bat Average

By BEN OLAN.
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Joe Medwick, baseball's newest Hall of Famer and a .300 batter during 14 of his 17 National League seasons, blames the increased emphasis on power for the recent decrease in the number of .300 hitters.

"They are all going for the long ball, but that can be corrected," said the swaggering hero of the St. Louis Cardinals' rambunctious Gas House Gang of the 1930s.

Medwick was voted into the Hall Tuesday, less than a week after being named a batting instructor for players on the Cardinals' minor league teams.

"The averages are also lower today because of the platoon system and the fact that the batters often have to face three different pitchers before a game is over," Medwick explained.

"These days," he added, "you can win a triple crown with a .326 batting average," obviously referring to the mark compiled by Boston's Carl Yastrzemski in winning the American League's

Bobcats Face Last 10 Games

By RALPH ROUNTON
Star Sports Writer

With the all-important divisional schedule still remaining for the Hope Bobcats, the locals enter with a 2-2 mark against the Eastern Division of Region 4-AA. Ten games, comprising a double round-robin, will be played during the next five weeks, as basketball season begins the tight stretch run for the wire. The Bobcats open their slate on Friday night, traveling to Camden for a battle with the Lincoln Wildcats.

Lincoln has been rather inconsistent this year, and although several conference teams have bombed them, the Wildcats were the first team in 4-AA to defeat the Warren Lumberjacks. But Lincoln is a little below their caliber of last year, when they could fire from anywhere and get the rebounds.

Then on Saturday evening the Bobcats return to home after a long absence, with the Arkadelphia Badgers providing the opposition. The Badgers have been Hope's big nemesis in 4-AA over the last few years, and their 51-50 win over the Bobcats at Arkadelphia last year virtually eliminated Hope from the state tournament berth.

Having now won 16 out of their last 17 outings, as well as ten in a row, the Hope Lady Cats take it easy this weekend, with their only game at Spring Hill on Friday night. That should be no problem, since the Lady Cats squelched Spring Hill 48-11 back in December.

But the Lady Cats are already pointing for the District 7-A West championships, a tourney which will provide the area's representative to the State Class A tournament late in February. At last word the tourney will be held in Prescott.

Earlier this year the girls district 7-A was believed to have ceased to be split. 7-A is the only split region in Class A, and to determine the state tourney representatives two separate playoffs were held, with each winner going to state.

If the district would have consolidated, its two best teams, Hope and Ashdown, would most likely have earned the two spots. But with the split district, Hope and Ashdown are both in the West. Therefore, if Ashdown happens to beat Hope for the state berth, the tournament will be missing one of the state's most outstanding teams in the Lady Cats.

The same would hold true if Hope won the position and Ashdown stayed home. Many of these same type complaints were voiced at the end of the National Football League's season, which split up its conferences. Thus, at playoff time the Baltimore Colts, who were the league's outstanding team, were through. And Dallas and Green Bay wound up fighting for the NFL championship, while both were victims of the Baltimore machine. This is the way Hope would feel if the Lady Cats were to let Ashdown slip up on them, and Charlotte Gibson's girls would have to hang up their suits in a heartbroken frame of mind, with no second chance.

New Orleans Wins Over Dallas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
That Jones Boy, as some refer to Jimmy Jones of the New Orleans Buccaneers, threw in 23 points Tuesday night to spark the Bucs to a 112-104 victory over the Dallas Chaparrals in the American Basketball Association.

In other games, also home court triumphs, Minnesota crushed Kentucky 120-97 and Oakland snapped a six-game losing streak by defeating Houston 120-110.

Jones hit for three straight baskets in the second half and later put New Orleans ahead for good at 90-89 against Dallas with a layup. Doug Moe of New Orleans was banished in the third quarter after coming to blows with Cincy Powell of Dallas, who also was ejected.

Les Hunter got 24 points to pace Minnesota over Kentucky for the Muskies' ninth straight home victory and their fourth in a row. Darel Carrier topped the Colonels with 20.

Jim Hadnor's 30 points led Oakland over Houston, Willie Somerset, with 26 points, 22 of them in the second half, topped the Mavericks. The East beat the West 144-124 in the annual All-Star game in the National Basketball Association.

MVP Is Greeted by L. B. J.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson laid aside cares of state and received Carl Yastrzemski, the American League Most Valuable Player who led the Boston Red Sox to the 1967 A.L. baseball pennant.

"With all the problems in the world and at home there's no better answer than good healthy sports," the President said in accepting a bat from the Red Sox slugger at the White House ceremony Tuesday.

Yastrzemski said it was the thrill of a lifetime to meet the President, who in his youth played sandlot ball as a left-handed hitting first baseman.

Baseball Commissioner William D. Eckert was at the ceremony along with Boston Manager Dick Williams, Joe DiMaggio of the Oakland Athletics, San Francisco pitcher Mike McCormick, Mrs. Yastrzemski and his parents.

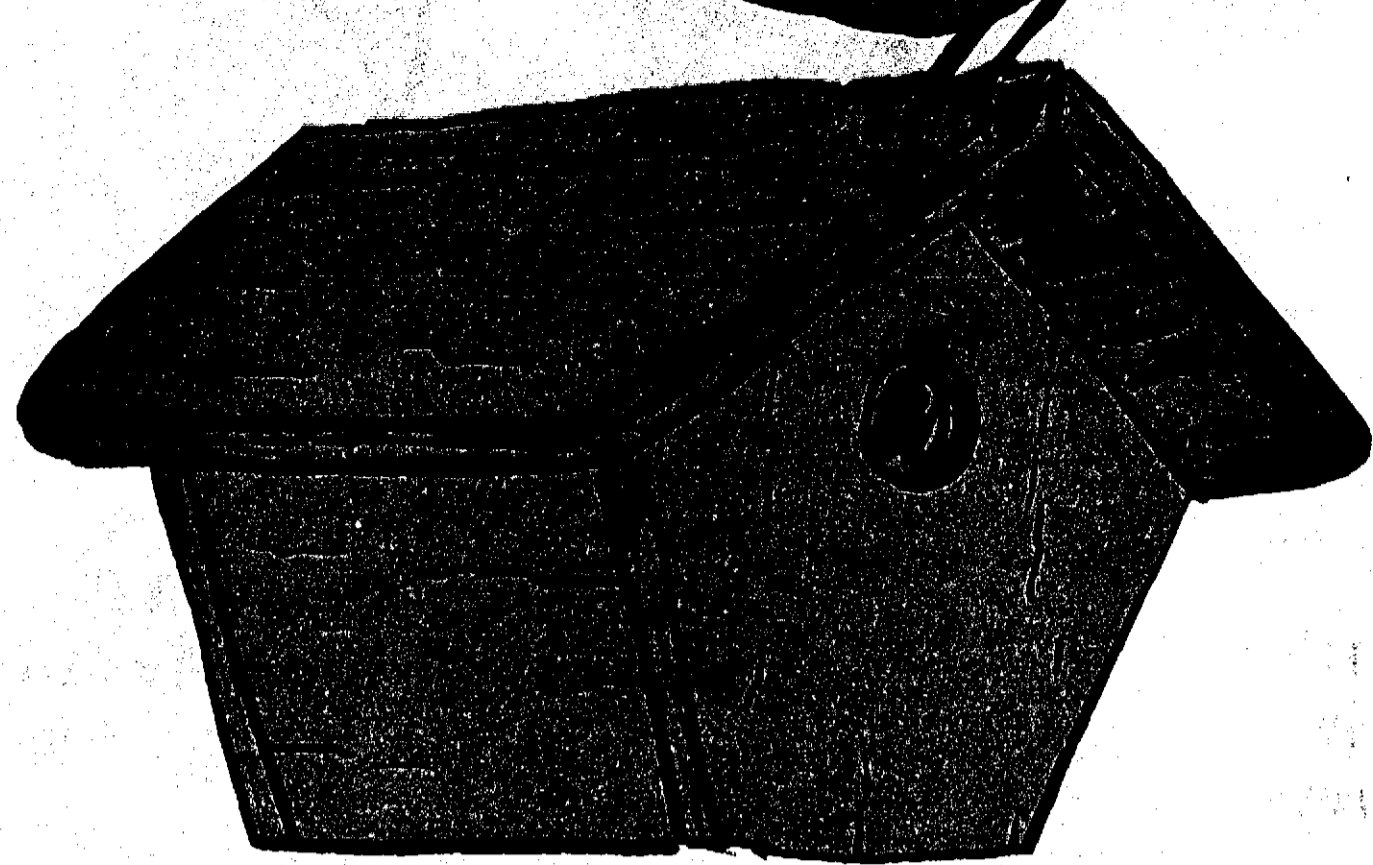

Winstone Whips Jap for Title

By BOB WATTS
LONDON (AP) — Howard Winstone of Britain claimed the world featherweight boxing title today and headed back to his home in Wales to appear in a divorce action against his wife. Winstone, 28, stopped Mitsunori Seki of Japan after one minute, 44 seconds of the ninth round in their scheduled 15-rounder Tuesday night at London's Royal Albert Hall. "Having got the title I guess I'm all ready to face up to the domestic side of things," Winstone said.

Iowa Wins 76-71 Over Spartans

By TED MEIER

Associated Press Sports Writer
Sam Williams, one of the best college basketball players in the Big Ten, came up with one of his outstanding performances for Iowa against Michigan State.

He flipped in 33 points to bring the Hawkeyes from behind for a 76-71 victory over the Spartans at East Lansing Tuesday night and a tie for first place with Northwestern.

The fifth-ranked Brown Indians of St. Bonaventure, in the only team in The Associated Press Top Ten to see action, romped to a 103-74 victory over Detroit at Olean, N.Y.

In other major games, Louisville edged Dayton 73-72 at Louisville and Canisius went overtime to down Cornell 83-79 at Ithaca.

Also Oklahoma City scored over Southern Methodist 93-82 at Oklahoma City, Vermont upset Massachusetts 85-82 in overtime at Burlington, Vt., and Oregon scored on the road over Portland 74-56.

Iowa was down by six points, 38-32, at halftime but Williams out loose for a 19-point second half performance that brought victory to the Hawkeyes.

Michigan State used three different players to defend against Williams, but they couldn't stop the former Detroit high school player.

Bill Butler, with 29, and Bob Lanier, with 28, combined for 57 points to lead unbeaten St. Bonaventure to its 14th straight, Bill Kalbaugh helped by stealing the ball eight times from Detroit.

Louisville almost blew a 15-point lead in the last 10 minutes, but the Cardinals hung on to beat Dayton. Don May of Dayton was high scorer with 27 points while Dan Obrovac, a 6-foot-10 soph, scored all of his 15 points in the second-half Dayton comeback.

Westley Unseld topped Louisville with 20 points. Tony Masiello scored 28 points, 10 of them in the extra period, to pace Canisius over Cornell. The Big Red, led by Greg Morris' 23 points, wiped out a 10-point deficit in the last two minutes to tie the regulation game at 69-69.

Rich Travis' 34 points paced Oklahoma City over SMU and Dave Lapointe's 10-foot bank shot with 21 seconds left in the overtime gave Vermont its surprise win over Massachusetts.

At the time, Vermont trailed 82-81. Don Katz added two free throws for the final points.

stone said, Winstone was to turn up in the Welsh divorce court to begin proceedings against his wife Bentia, who, he claims, deserted him after his unsuccessful title bid against former world champion Vicente Saldivar in Mexico last October.

Saldivar, now retired, was at the ringside among a crowd of 6,000 who saw the English referee make a controversial decision against Seki.

Seki said he was so disappointed at the result that he was retiring from the ring.

L.A. Opens 42nd Golf Tourney

PASADENA, Calif. (AP) — The 42nd annual Los Angeles Open Golf Tournament gets underway Thursday with many familiar faces on deck but on a new course, and, in fact, in a new city.

The most familiar face is that of Arnold Palmer, a three-time winner of the event and the defending champion.

The setting is the 7,100 yard, 36-35½71 Brookside Golf Course, a revamped municipal course sprawling hard by Pasadena's famed Rose Bowl.

The professionals teamed with amateurs in today's pro-am preliminary to the main show—72 holes which is scheduled to wind up Sunday.

Notably absent is the U.S. Open champion, Jack Nicklaus, who has played but twice in the Los Angeles fixture since he turned pro in 1961 and made his debut in the 1962 Los Angeles tournament.

The winner will collect $20,000, and some 144 pros will take aim at the 144.

Shoemaker's Injury May End Career

ARCADIA, Calif. (AP) — Willie Shoemaker, perhaps the most famous jockey in the world today, broke a bone in his right thigh in a spill at Santa Anita race track and there's no telling when he will ride again. The mishap to the 36-year-old Texas-born "Shoe," who has ridden many of the world's best known thoroughbreds, the latest of which is Damascus, happened in the second race Tuesday.

The 12-horse field was rounding into the stretch when Juan Gonzalez' mount, Kodiak Kid, tripped on the heels of another horse, Jack's Aloha ridden by Manuel Ycaza.

Shoemaker's mount, Bel Bush, tripped over Kodiak Kid, as the rest of the field thundered past.

Gonzalez and Shoemaker sprawled on the track, Gonzalez with a minor leg injury, Shoemaker with a broken leg, his most serious injury in his 19-year career. He was in many previous spills, but always escaped with minor bruises.

Shoemaker was taken to the Daniel Freeman Hospital in nearby Inglewood and underwent surgery by Dr. Robert Kerlen.

Dr. Kerlen said the fall broke Shoemaker's right femur, the bone between the hip and the knee and the largest, strongest bone in the body.

Shoemaker is the winningest active jockey with 5,758 career triumphs. He is 274 behind the record of 6,032 set by Johnny Longden, now retired.

462 College Players in Pro Draft

By HAL BOCK

Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Commissioner Pete Rozelle has announced the ground rules and order of selection for professional football's second common draft of collegians.

The 26 pro teams will select 462 college players in 17 draft rounds next Tuesday and Wednesday here. Cincinnati, the American Football League's new expansion team, will have 42 picks—the most for any team—while the New York Giants of the National League will have the fewest number of choices—11.

The first pick belongs to Minnesota as a result of the trade which sent quarterback Fran Tarkenton to the Giants last year. After the Vikings make their choice, Cincinnati makes its initial selection.

The Bengals will have the first and last picks in each round as well as a second choice at the end of the second, third and fourth rounds. Cincinnati also gets all AFL choices except Miami's in the sixth round. The Dolphins were the first AFL expansion team two years ago.

Rozelle said each team would have 15 minutes for its selections in the first two rounds and five minutes for each selection after that.

The teams will draft in reverse order of win-loss percentage based on the combined standings of the two leagues last season except for Oakland of the AFL and Green Bay of the NFL. The Super Bowl opponents will take the last two picks in each round before Cincinnati makes its bonus choice.

But the Packers, who under those rules would choose 27th in the opening round, won't have to wait that long. They own New Orleans' first pick as a result of the Jim Taylor deal last year and will choose fifth behind Minnesota, Cincinnati, Atlanta and San Diego. The Chargers are that high because they got Denver's No. 1 choice in the trade for Steve Tensi.

Negroes in Ultimatum to U. of C.

BERKELEY, Calif. (AP) — Negro athletes on the University of California Berkeley campus are demanding better treatment, saying they will boycott varsity sports if it isn't forthcoming.

The university's 40 Negro athletes outlined complaints at a demand for replacement of three Berkeley campus coaches "for reasons of their inability or unwillingness to relate to black athletes and their general incompetence."

Acting as spokesman for the group was Bobby Smith, defensive halfback on the All-Pacific-8-Conference team who also played in the East-West and Hula Bowl games.

The men the Negroes want replaced are Rene Herreras, the head basketball coach, defensive football line coach William

Hockey Picks

Two for All-Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — Bobby Hull and Stan Mikita, Chicago's high scoring forwards, and defenseman Bobby Orr of Boston were named unanimously today to the National Hockey League's All-Star team for the opening half of the 1967-68 season.

Three veterans players, right winger Gordie Howe of Detroit and goalie Johnny Bower and defenseman Tim Norton of Toronto, also made the first team in a vote of the Circuit's coaches.

The New York Rangers of the league's East Division and the six expansion teams in the new West Division were completely shut out as the five other East Division clubs dominated the second team.

Anti-NATO Party Wins in Denmark

COPENHAGEN (AP) — Denmark's Socialist government resigned today after defeat in the national election, opening a period of intense political maneuvering with the key position held by a party opposed to Danish membership in NATO.

Premier Jens Otto Krag lost his working majority in Parliament when his Social Democratic party lost six seats and the allied Peoples Socialists lost three in Tuesday's national election.

Krag had called the election to seek approval of an austerity program to check inflation. The 53-year-old premier made clear he would try to remain in the post he has occupied since 1962. He said his party, still the largest in Parliament with 63 seats, would seek an alliance with the pacifistic Radical Liberals, whose increase from 15 to 28 seats was the biggest gain in the election and gave them the balance of power in the 179-seat Parliament.

Pre-election soundings indicated the Radical Liberals were unlikely to join forces with Krag. There was much talk of a coalition made up of the Conservatives, the Moderate Liberals and the Radical Liberals, but the Radical Liberal organ, Politiken, said this "is by no means to be taken for granted."

It appeared certain, however, that any coalition would have to include the Radical Liberals to get a majority and that this insured realization of a key demand of the party—a national referendum to determine whether Denmark should remain a member of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

The Radical Liberals undoubtedly will try to make anti-NATO capital out of the crash Sunday in Greenland—Danish territory—of a U.S. B52 bomber with four hydrogen bombs aboard. The crash became a last-minute election issue but its effect on the outcome, if any, was not immediately apparent.

Memory Is Perfect Museum—Open All Hours, Opines Boyle

By HAL BOYLE
NEW YORK (AP) — Memory is the perfect museum. Its doors never close. It is always open, any hour of the day, every day of the year.

At the whim of an instant one may stroll through its long galleries and see a past ecstasy, a previous glory.

Your own museum of memories is pretty well stocked if you can look back and remember when—

Every home had a fireplace because wood was cheap and plentiful.

It gave a fellow a feeling he was getting ahead in the world when he saw his name printed for the first time in a telephone directory.

Fountain pens were supposed to last a lifetime.

You worried terribly if you broke a mirror because that meant for sure you'd be dogged by seven years of bad luck.

Few families sent a rug to the cleaner. One of the Saturday afternoon chores of childhood was to hang rugs on a backyard rope and whack the dust out of them with a wire beater.

Boys and girls were so shy with each other that when a couple dated for the first time one or the other was almost sure to get an attack of nervous hiccups.

No hotel lobby was complete without a potted palm.

Every farmer wore a blue and white striped cap, and in the right-hand pocket of his overalls there usually was a big chunk of chewing tobacco.

It was a genteel mark of prosperity for a family to own an electric blanket, although the first one to use it had a secret terror of being electrocuted while asleep.

If you lost your sweetheart to another fellow, your friends consoled you with the sage saying, "Girls are like streetcars if you miss one, there'll always be another along soon."

Mother was certain you were born with real musical talent if you could put a piece of tissue paper on a comb and hum a recognizable tune on it.

Every block in America seemed to have a neighborhood bully, and every other kid in the block was trying to raise the money to take a muscle building course by mail.

No girl who valued her reputation would appear in public wearing a tight sweater.

You could get a good cup of coffee anywhere in the United States for a nickel.

Parents weren't afraid of talking back to their children.

Those were the days! Remember?

McLean to Leave AP Board

NEW YORK (AP) — Robert McLean, a director of The Associated Press for 44 years and its president from 1938 to 1957, will retire from the board in April.

McLean, chairman of the board of The Philadelphia Bulletin and The Santa Barbara, Calif., News-Press, told the nominating committee he did not wish to be considered for re-nomination.

The committee, meeting here to nominate candidates for election as directors at the annual meeting of AP members April 22, expressed its regret. It said this "outstanding leadership and constant devotion to the principles and problems of The Associated Press is unsurpassed."

The AP Board of Directors, in a resolution adopted at its January meeting in San Diego, Calif., called McLean "a living symbol of The Associated Press."

The resolution said: "You are a personification of its ideals. You are a depository of its history. You are the authority on its past problems and its policies."

"You are the recipient of our affectionate pride in the continuing discharge by The Associated Press of its responsibilities involving freedom of news throughout the world."

McLean was the second president of The Associated Press since its reorganization in its present form in 1900. The first president was the late Frank B. Noyes, publisher of The Washington Star.

Present bylaws of The Associated Press limit directors to three consecutive terms of three years each, but as a former president McLean would have been eligible for re-nomination.

Frank A. Daniels of the Raleigh, N.C., Times, an AP director for four years, advised the nominating committee that for reasons of health he did not wish to be considered for re-nomination. Daniels had served one year as a replacement for a deceased board member and had then been elected to a three-year term which expires in April.

The nominating committee said "the AP board will miss his wise counsel and the membership generally will want to express to him their appreciation for his devoted service."

Meeks, Ex Army Aide, Head Utah

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Bill Meek is leaving Army to become head football coach at the University of Utah.

The assistant to Tom Cahill, head coach at West Point, was named to his new post Tuesday by the Utah board of regents. He was given a three-year contract at $18,000 a year and permission to appoint five assistants.

Meek's appointment to succeed the resigned Mike Giddings was one of several changes in the coaching ranks Tuesday.

In the others, Eddie Kriwiel became head coach at Wichita State succeeding Boyd Converse and Jerry Lyons resigned as head coach at Portland State.

Among the pros, Blanton Collier of the Cleveland Browns was given a new three-year contract as head coach of the National Football League club.

Dub Jones resigned as offensive coach and will be replaced by Nick Skorich, defensive coach last season. Dick Modzelewski will take over as defensive coach.

"I've enjoyed my two years at Army," said Meek at West Point. "But the Utah offer was real fine and I think it's an opportunity with a lot of potential."

Cahill declared, "Bill's done a fine job for us. We wish him well at Utah."

Kriwiel, a former player at Wichita, moves up from an assistant post. He signed a three-year contract at a reported $14,000 per year.

"Kriwiel has established himself firmly as a dedicated and capable coach and as a fine leader," said Emory Lindquist, Wichita president.

9 Assassins Killed by S. Koreans

By K. C. HWANG
Associated Press Writer

SEOUL, Korea (AP) — While the United States massed a show of force off North Korea in an attempt to obtain the release of the captured U.S. Navy ship Pueblo, South Korean troops reported today they had killed nine more North Korean commandos who invaded Seoul Sunday in an attempt to assassinate President Chung Hee Park and other high officials.

This made a total of 15 of the 31-man band of assassins reported killed, and one more has been captured. The hunt for the other 15 continued.

The North Korean infiltrators have killed nine South Koreans and wounded seven, including an army colonel shot today as he led his men in an encounter on Mt. Nokosan, 10 miles north of Seoul. The colonel's unit killed four Communists, and one escaped.

Farther north of Seoul, in the western sector of the demilitarized zone, three American soldiers were slightly wounded early today in an exchange of fire with four North Koreans infiltrating south through the barrier fence along the truce zone.

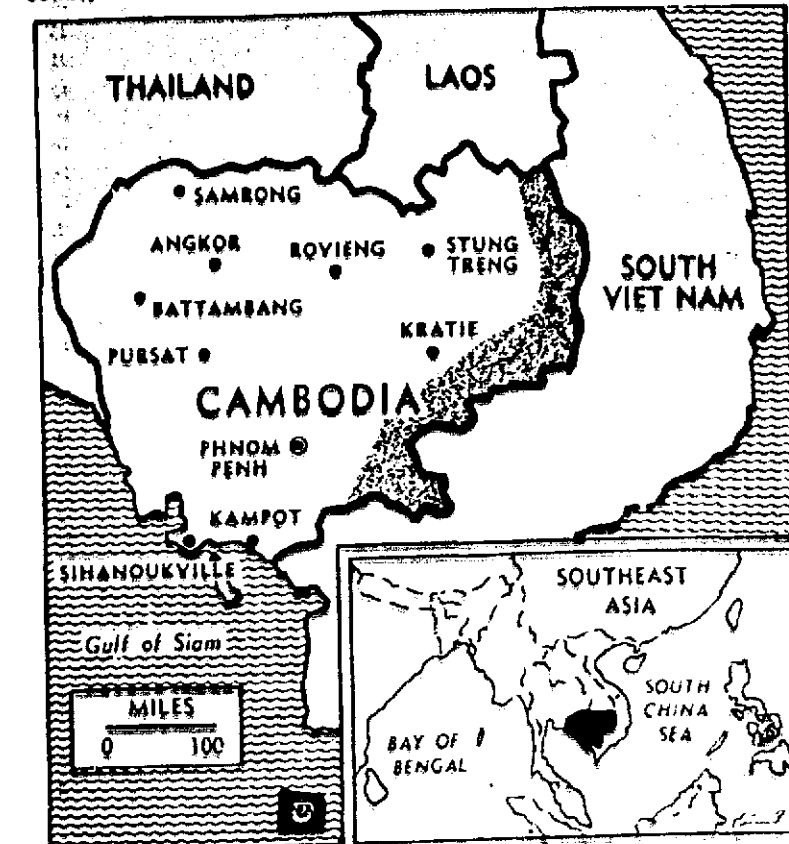

There was no report of North Korean casualties.

The daring commando invasion of Seoul and the capture of the Pueblo Tuesday were the most serious in an escalating series of attacks charged by the South Koreans and their American allies against the North Koreans. The U.N. Command in Korea recently reported to the Security Council that the North Koreans had initiated 543 incidents of violence during the first 10 months of 1967, compared with 50 such incidents in all of 1966.

There has been speculation that North Korea's purpose is to divert U.S. forces from the Vietnam war. The North Korean regime has repeatedly called on other Communist governments to aid North Vietnam.

The capture of the Pueblo did divert the 75,000-ton aircraft carrier Enterprise from duty in Vietnam, at least temporarily.

The carrier had sailed Tuesday from Sasebo, in southern Japan, for her third tour of war duty but was rerouted after the Pueblo reported she was being forced into the North Korean port of Wonsan, on the east coast.

VIET CONG SANCTUARIES inside Cambodia have long plagued allied forces in South Vietnam. Shaded area on map indicates border areas where Communist forces have been active.

Can't Meet Demand for Half Dollars
WASHINGTON (AP) - Despite heavy production of half dollars, the Treasury Department is still unable to meet the entire demand for the coin bearing President John F. Kennedy's likeness.

Robert A. Wallace, assistant secretary of the Treasury, said Monday all indications are the half dollar continues to increase in circulation although it's still in short supply.

The future of the half dollar - and Treasury officials insist it has a future - will be discussed anew March 1 by the Joint Commission on the Coinage.

Pressure has been exerted by industries which use silver to remove it from the half dollar but such a move would require congressional approval.

Although the coin shortage which first hit the nation several years ago has long since been declared over, the Treasury still receives complaints from citizens saying half dollars aren't circulating.

Through Dec. 31, the Treasury produced 894,799,143 Kennedy half dollars and has tentatively projected production of about 200 million pieces for the fiscal year beginning July 1.

By comparison, only 16 million of the coins - which then were Franklin halves - were minted in 1961. This was stepped up to 43 million in 1962 and 56 million in 1963.

Wallace said the Treasury hopes some day to return to an annual production of 100 million halves and even this would be far above what was considered normal a decade or two ago.

Halves, the Treasury feels, have been saved as mementoes of the late president but they are also a handy way for individuals to save money by storing them in a desk drawer.

Saving the new halves for their silver content, officials feel, is useless since the price would have to rise to $3.38 an ounce before a new half dollar would be worth 50 cents in silver. Silver has been bringing about $1.95 an ounce in recent months in market sales.

The 1965 Coinage Act, which removed all silver from dimes and quarters, cut the amount of silver in the half dollar from 90 percent to 40 percent. A 90 percent half was worth its face value in silver when the price went to $1.38 an ounce.

Certain bridge habits are so deeply ingrained in us that it is almost impossible to break away from them. One of these habits is that you lead a low card from a long suit unless you have some special combination of high cards at the top.

Now take a look at the West hand. You have to lead against four hearts and you have listened carefully to the bidding. South has a good hand. He opened with a forcing two bid. Also, South has a two suiter. He started with hearts and bid and rebid diamonds.

North has a bad hand but he does have at least five spades. He also has at least as many hearts as diamonds. Should we open a trump in an effort to cut down dummy's ruffing power?

This might be a good idea if our diamond suit were something like ace-jack-nine-small but it actually is ace-deuce-trey-four. We aren't likely to get more than one trick there. Thus we decide to open a club. Habit tells us to lead the deuce. Fourth best of four, as recommended in all books, is led by us year in and year out.

If we follow habit and the rules, South has no trouble making his contract. Our partner wins the trick with his ace and leads back a low club. Declarer discards his small spade and now dummy's queen is the top club. No matter what we do, South will be able to draw trumps, knock out our ace of diamonds and make his contract.

If we are really alert, we should defeat the contract by the irregular opening lead of the king of clubs. It won't make any difference whether South ruffs right in or discards a spade. He will be faced by further club leads and will have to allow our partner to make a small trump in the cool of the evening.

Cherokee Trail Has Tragic Tale

The actual Cherokee Trail of Tears route passed through the Ozarks across northern Arkansas, according to George F. Metzler, Extension recreation specialist.

The migration of 13,000 Cherokees started in Echota, Georgia in 1838 on a forced march to the Indian territory in Oklahoma. They crossed the Mississippi River at Cape Girardeau and one segment of the march entered Arkansas just north of Pocahontas. Metzler says the late Sam A. Leath is the only white man to retrace the entire route. Mr. Leath was secretary of the Chamber of Commerce in Heber Springs for many years. He used the summer months of 1891-1893 with the aid of Indian guides to follow the Indian markings along the trail. Mostly hieroglyphics and pictographs on rock formations were followed.

Leath also studied field notes and documentary records of prominent men, such as Ex-Governor Sam Houston, Captain John McClellan, Chief Grey-Horse, Chief Red-Eagle, and Chief Scout Edward Gladsen. Edward Gladsen, a quarter-blood Cherokee, schoolmate of Leath, was a traveling companion until they found his grandmother's chain in Nashville proving that she had died and was buried on the Cumberland River near Nashville.

Metzler says hieroglyphics and pictographs on rock formations were followed after leaving Pocahontas going west to near Ravenden Springs, on bluffs near Hardy (upstream on Spring River), near Henderson (crossing the North Fork River), and upstream on White River above Cotter. Long Creek was crossed northwest of Alpena Pass.

They crossed the King's River near Grandview, and Leatherwood Creek near Gaskin Switch. At Blue Springs, northwest of Eureka Springs in the west of the White River, many hieroglyphics can be found since they rested four nights and three days there. The markings show that four different tribes camped at the spring. From there, they passed near Busch, Garfield, Pea Ridge, Bentonville, and Fayetteville. One branch turned west at Bentonville and the others went west of Fayetteville to join again at Park Hill Indian Territory, their destination, which is south of Tahlequah, Oklahoma.

Thirteen thousand began the long journey, later known as the Trail of Tears because of the hardships and heartbroken Indians. Of these, only some 7,000 reached their destination. Only crude pole markers were left to show the final resting places of the dead.

Heart-Killer Suspected by Doctors

By BILL LITTLE
Associated Press Writer
OKLAHOMA CITY, Okla. (AP) — Medics are looking for ways to block brain impulses, triggered at times by fear or panic, which can switch off a healthy human heart and cause sudden death.

Studies on how to short-circuit the killer impulses are under way at the University of Oklahoma Medical Center.

The fatal brain impulses can be brought about by several factors, said Dr. Stewart Wolf, director of the neurosciences section of the Oklahoma Medical Research Foundation. "Drowning victims," he said, often are found to have no water in their lungs. "The patient just died of a turned-off heart as a result of fear or panic . . . the same could be true of those who died from snakebites." He added that only 15 to 20 per cent of snakebite fatalities have had enough venom to kill them.

"Heart attacks occur most frequently," Wolf said, "in those emotionally upset, those depressed, or those at the end of their rope, shunned by a tight society, with no place to turn. Sudden death may be due to a combination, which may include heart damage, chronic emotional states such as depression and discouragement or other factors, such as overwhelming or sudden fear."

Wolf said "we know it is possible to activate in animals the brain mechanism which turns off the heart. You can do it in a number of ways. We are experimenting in various methods of blocking the mechanism."

"The uncertainty of when it's going to happen," he added, "is the biggest hurdle facing the researchers."

"It's too early to get into the methods," Wolf said. "There isn't any pill . . . there are maneuvers we can use in animal work which we can't use in humans at this time. We're working with animals to try to develop a practical way to do it with humans."

Last week a Yale University medical school researcher told an Oklahoma City symposium that a device to help control heart activity through stimulation of parts of the brain will be tried on humans within a year.

Dr. Jose M. R. Delgado said the device will be similar to the pacemaker which now can be implanted in the chest cavity to regulate the heart beat with electrical impulses. He said the brain device will be implanted under the skin of the head and could be activated by an outside radio. He said the device initially will be used to learn which areas of the brain control which activities of the heart.

"We must reverse the long held general opinion that the heart controls the brain," Delgado said. "We're finding it is the brain which controls blood pressure, hypertension, heart rate, heart rhythm and electrocardiogram activity."

Reform Still Promised by Vietnamese

By BARRY KRAMER

SAIGON (AP) — The new civilian-style government in South Vietnam has been in office nearly three months. President Nguyen Van Thieu's friends say he will be moving soon to start the reforms that long have been considered essential to win popular support for the Saigon regime.

His critics, Vietnamese and American alike, are showing signs of impatience. The lack of early progress led one American official to complain— anonymously: "Bold, dynamic leadership hasn't been there."

While Thieu, a former general, is now president and commander of the armed forces, he still must work with the generals who ruled South Vietnam under a military junta for several years.

Although the generals no doubt realize that things have changed and that a coup is no longer possible if there is to be continued U.S. support of the government, many feel Thieu is a threat to their power.

He could be if he chose to go along with his inauguration speech plans to eliminate corruption and inefficiency at all levels.

So far Thieu has chosen to go slowly. In addition, personal differences between Thieu and Vice President Nguyen Cao Ky, a former air marshal, have hampered executive decision-making.

Both men deny they are feuding, but people close to them say that snubs and imagined slights cause the two men to avoid each other. Thieu and Ky appear together in public only occasionally.

Rumors persist that Ky has been masterminding an anti-American program in the newspapers to discredit Thieu. Ky denies this. He has told associates that Thieu has given him little to do in the government.

The House of Representatives and the Senate, elected in September and October, only recently completed setting up their rules and electing officers. They still have not acted on any legislation, although committees are looking into several problems.

Thieu met with President Johnson in Australia last month. Vietnamese sources say Johnson was disturbed by reports that Ky had formed his own "government," complete with a shadow cabinet, and at times was able to rally the more powerful South Vietnamese generals behind himself and against Thieu.

Unless Thieu consolidated his power as president, Johnson is supposed to have told him, much-needed reforms could fall by the wayside. Johnson likely had heard reports that Premier Nguyen Van Loc, torn between obeying directives from Thieu and Ky, had not shown any great effectiveness.

As associates picture it, Thieu couldn't agree more about the need to consolidate his power. The military still represents the only nationally organized force besides the Communists, and as such Thieu needs its support.

So although he is known to want to get rid of some generals and province chiefs, he is biding his time. Some army officers have been tried for corruption or removed for inefficiency, but their ranks are low and their numbers small.

Spies are hanged immediately when caught, said the first edition of the Encyclopaedia Britannica, published in 1768.

Iron Best Treatment In Secondary Anemia

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

Q—I have secondary anemia and take iron sulfate and vitamin B-12. Must I continue to take them indefinitely?

A—Secondary anemia is the result of chronic blood loss from a bleeding ulcer, hemophilia, profuse menstruation in women or the like. Iron is the best treatment and is needed only until the source of the bleeding is found and checked. Unless you also have pernicious anemia, vitamin B-12 should not be needed.

Q—Can a person's blood be built up with iron tablets?

A—Only if an iron deficiency exists.

Q—My mother, 80, has a hemoglobin of 65. Taking iron pills does not bring it up. What would cause this? Is it serious?

A—I assume your mother's hemoglobin level is 65 per cent of normal. This could be due to some form of anemia other than iron deficiency. All forms of chronic anemia are serious but most can be improved with proper treatment.

Q—I am taking iron pills for anemia. Is it possible to take too many and get iron poisoning?

A—Too much iron can cause nausea, vomiting and diarrhea. This is why your doctor should adjust the dosage to your individual need.

Q—A friend says that all persons are born with both male and female sex organs. I thought such persons were freaks. Please comment.

A—The sex of most persons is determined at the moment the female reproductive cell (ovum) is penetrated by the sperm, which may carry an X chromosome and produce a girl or a Y chromosome and produce a boy. Examination of the human embryo without a microscopic study of the chromosomes gives no clue as to its sex until the 9th or 10th week of development. At this stage the corresponding parts of the reproductive system begin to become differentiated. The fold that becomes the female vulva becomes the scrotum in the male; the clitoris in the female becomes the penis in the male; the gonads become ovaries in the female and testicles in the male.

It is true that in a few cases this differentiation is not complete and faulty development gives rise to infants with abnormal reproductive organs. In the past, these unfortunate children were raised as girls because their condition was thus made easier to conceal but now, through our ability to determine the true sex of a child microscopically, it is possible in many cases with surgery or sex hormones to correct the error and give the child a chance to be what he or she really is.

Halleck to Retire From Congress

MONTICELLO, Ind. (AP) — Rep. Charles A. Halleck, who has served both as majority and minority leader during his 33 years as a Republican member of the House, says he will retire at the end of the session.

"Without dramatics let me tell you simply that I am not going to run for re-election. The time has come to turn over the job to a young man," Halleck announced Tuesday night at a Republican committee meeting. He is 67.

"I could have called a press conference in Washington," Halleck said, "but here is where I belong."

He said he and his wife, the former Blanche White of Indianapolis, will continue to make their home in Rensselaer.

"I'm going to start spending more time doing the things I

Southwestern Bell is burying more and more of its cable to protect it from storms and other natural elements. The telephone men check out a large cable (above).

Southwestern Bell Telephone Company has launched the largest annual construction program ever planned for the expansion and improvement of telephone service and facilities in Arkansas, according to Joe Mahan, manager.

"We have allotted almost $30 million—a record expenditure—to keep pace with customer demands for service in Arkansas," Mahan said. "The actual amount of required expenditures is $4.6 million more than the amount spent in providing new telephone facilities in 1967."

During 1967 Hope realized a gain of 366 telephones. We spent over $75 thousand on construction of new facilities in this area and we are in the process of installing over $200 thousand worth of new toll circuit and central office switching equipment. "Our state-wide construction like to do, like fishing, hunting and golfing," Halleck said.

With his departure, congress is losing one of its most colorful and toughest members and one of its most battle-scarred veterans.

A native of Jasper County, Halleck began his political career there in 1924 with election as prosecuting attorney. He won re-election four times and then in 1935 won a special election to succeed Rep. Frederick Landis, R-Ind.

Halleck came into the spotlight in 1940 with a dramatic address in Philadelphia, nominating Wendell L. Willkie for president.

Halleck became a protégé of former Rep. Joseph W. Martin Jr. of Massachusetts and in 1946 was chosen chairman of the influential congressional campaign committee. Halleck was majority leader when Martin served as speaker in 1947-48 and 1953-54.

A master political tactician, Halleck became former President Dwight D. Eisenhower's legislative right hand and was chosen by Eisenhower to make his nominating speech at San Francisco in 1956.

On Jan. 7, 1959, Halleck engineered a major coup in ousting Martin. The vote in a party caucus was 74-70 in favor of Halleck.

He fell victim to a similar coup Jan. 4, 1965, when Republican, stunned by heavy election losses, picked Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan as minority leader.

Lamb Leather Launderers

Genuine white suede, made of New Zealand lamb hides that can be hand-washed like fine lingerie, is now sold over the counter as yard goods. The manufacturer states that this leather will not become discolored even after numerous washings and that it can be finger pressed or even ironed to eliminate wrinkles after laundering.

program this year is a balanced plan that includes new buildings and additions, more central office equipment and cable, and additional microwave radio relay systems and other outside plant that should enable us to keep step with the continued increases in telephone needs and desires of our customers in urban and rural areas alike," Mahan added. "Practically every city and town served by Southwestern Bell in the state will feel the impact of this program," Mahan observed. "Besides the benefits of improved service, this investment will be fuel to the state's economy."

"In many ways, 1967 was a 'benchmark' year for Southwestern Bell and the telephone industry. Last summer we celebrated the 500,000th telephone that we have installed in Arkansas, just a few weeks after we noted the installation of the nation's 100 millionth telephone. "We gained more than 31,000 telephones in Arkansas last year—to bring our total in service to almost 520,000—and expect similar growth in the coming year," Mahan said. "Average number of local and long distance calls placed per day in the state rose more than 200,000, to a total of about 2,880,000."

Direct distance dialing (which was introduced in Harrisburg, Dermott, Black Rock, Cash and Paron during the past year) will make its debut in 40 more Arkansas cities and towns served by Southwestern Bell during 1968.

El Dorado, Hot Springs, Warren, Monticello, Crawfordville, Earle, Hughes, Marion, Parkin, Turrell, Blackfish Lake, Camden-East Camden, Norphlet, Calion, Urbana, Strong, Huttig, Mount Holly, Smackover, Childs, Stephens, McNeil, Village, Macedonia, Stamps, Jesselville, Jones Mills, Lonsdale, Altheimer, Wilmar, Grady, Swan Lake, Watson, Arkansas City, Lake Village, Eudora, Portland, Hamburg, Cleveland, and Center Ridge are all scheduled to get DDD service in 1968.

Construction work will continue on new buildings now going up at Little Rock, Springdale and east Camden (Shumaker). New office equipment is to be introduced at all these locations.

Building additions were also erected at Parkin and Arkansas City, and work on a new service center at Forrest City was completed. Work was finished in 1967 on a large new building and equipment addition at Jonesboro. A new building was completed in Urbana and placed in service during the past year, and a large building additions was begun at Morrilton.

Besides the record construction program, Arkansans will find their telephone service better in other ways, Mahan said. Rates on interstate long distance telephone calls were cut in Arkansas on November 1, allowing Arkansans to share in a $100 million nationwide calling reduction. Southwestern Bell began using air pollution control devices on all new passenger vehicles and service trucks early in 1967, as a step toward combatting this nationwide problem. This program will continue until all vehicles in the company are equipped.

The changeover to the all numeral calling numbering system got into full swing in 1967, and will come to many Arkansas cities and towns in 1968.

An easier and faster method of dialing direct long distance calls inside Arkansas was also introduced. This new system allows the caller to omit the area code when dialing calls inside the state. Now a caller need dial only the access digit "1", and then the distant telephone number on calls inside Arkansas.

"These are just part of the overall contributions made by Southwestern Bell to the state's economy," said Mahan. "Here are some other examples of what a healthy business can contribute to the overall economy."

"Federal income, property, city, county, school, state and special taxes amounted to $18 million last year."

"More important, $22 million in wages went to 3,700 Southwestern Bell men and women in Arkansas. We also spent millions of dollars for purchases of supplies, materials and services we use every day for operations in the state. Our combined contribution to the state's economy was about $66 million in 1967."

"We feel last year's progress was good," said Mahan, "but we are looking forward to another year of improving telephone service for our Arkansas customers, and to keeping Arkansas a growing and healthy state in which to live."

A LETTER RECEIVED BY COMMANDER C. G. CARMICHAEL

Dear Commander: We wish to mail each Service man from Arkansas that is in service in Vietnam a copy of Public Law 90-77 that became effective October 1, 1967. We wish to apprise them of their educational benefits, home loan guarantees, service connected and non-service connected disabilities, pensions, and compensations.

We realize you may not know all men serving in Vietnam, but if you will please get as many names and addresses as you can and forward to our office, we will be glad to keep them informed of new laws and in changes to VA benefits.

We will give you credit for furnishing us this information in our correspondence with the service men. Sincerely yours,

Robert N. Boggan, Director

COMING & GOING

Sgt. James D. Davis and family have returned to Ft. Louis. Sgt. Davis has recently returned to the states from duty in Vietnam, and his family stayed with his mother, Mrs. Josephine Bizez until he returned.

Mrs. Mell Forcile and daughter Jackie have returned to their home in Los Angeles, California after visiting their grandmother, Mrs. Reathar Mae Witherspoon.

OBITUARY

Mr. Arthur Pennington, a former resident of Hope, passed away in a Hot Springs hospital January 22, 1968. Funeral arrangements are incomplete and will be announced by Hicks Funeral Home, Inc.

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Martin Luther (1483-1546), the great German religious reformer, posted his "95 Theses," criticizing the abuse of the sale of indulgences, upon the door of the castle church at Wittenburg, Germany, Oct. 31, 1517, says The World Almanac. This act came to be considered the beginning of the Protestant Reformation, although Luther's original intentions were to purify the Church, not to establish a new one.

Circumstances
Have a Lot to Do
With Man's Destiny

An American statesman once said when accused of being inconsistent: "I did my level best—but history refused to cooperate. How could I be consistent when events refused to be consistent?"

We have two illustrations of this dilemma in today's news.

Arkansas traditionally has been a prohibition state. But today Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller threw his support behind a bill to legalize the sale of mixed drinks. I think he speaks the sentiment of the majority of citizens.

Once we had the notion that alcohol could be abolished by law. Now we know differently. First we repealed the 18th Amendment nationally, and today there isn't one of the 50 American states that is bone-dry.

Circumstances alter men's convictions.

Today we are confronted by the undemocratic spectacle of hundreds of private clubs where mixed drinks are legally sold to a select few—while the non-club-member Mr. John Common Citizen is ruthlessly disenfranchised.

Circumstances alter men's convictions.

Today we are confronted by a cynical tax picture, in which we find ourselves levying sales tax against the food and medicine and clothing of the poor largely because we won't use the full resources of liquor taxation as better informed, less opiated sections, do.

Candor compels me to say it: We are Philistines in an era in which Time has abandoned us to our lonely and wrongful convictions.

It is a moment when we can be jolted by the hard shock of outspoken truth—and I think the governor has given us the word.

Circumstances alter men's convictions.

Some among us believe war can be abolished. They read books that say so.

But then an American ship is seized on the high seas by North Korean pirates—and today our Navy is closing in for the rescue.

Consistency isn't a word found in the dictionaries of pirates. And you don't need a book to tell you what to do when your flag is attacked by an enemy.

GOP Replies to 'State of Union'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Here are highlights of the Republican reply Tuesday night to President Johnson's State of the Union message:

Vietnam—Charged Johnson policies of gradualism and vacillation have cost American lives, prolonged the war, urged "effective utilization" of U.S. air and sea power.

TAXES - INFLATION — Said federal spending must be cut before tax boost can be approved.

CRIME—Said Johnson policies have failed to curb crime and: "Murder is epidemic, Rape is commonplace." Urged federal aid—without strings attached—to state and local law enforcement agencies.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS—Contended U.S. world leadership is dwindling, U.S. prestige at all-time low. Said Soviets are becoming a major Middle East force while U.S. policy for that region isn't specific.

SECURITY—Said Johnson "doctrine" believes strategic equality is better than U.S. supremacy.

AGRICULTURE — Maintained administration dumping of grain reserves has forced farm prices down while Johnson trade policies encourage imports.

Huntsville Gets Center

WASHINGTON (AP) — A $115,798 grant reservation to help Madison County, Ark., finance construction of two community service centers was announced Tuesday by the Department of Housing and Urban Development.

The centers will be at Huntsville and Kingston.

Cong Pushes for Victory in South

By GEORGE ESPER
Associated Press Writer
SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnam has sent 10,000 more troops into South Vietnam's embattled northern provinces, and a defector says their goal is to wipe out American forces there to pave the way for negotiations, a senior U.S. officer reported today.

The American officer said the North Vietnamese 304th Division has infiltrated into western Quang Tri Province, where the U.S. Marines have been under heavy pressure this week.

The U.S. source said a lieutenant who defected from the new division told allied interrogators the Communist objective was to launch an offensive against South Vietnam's two northernmost provinces which would "destroy American forces."

"A victory would be followed by negotiations," the defector said.

A number of high officials in the U.S. military command and the U.S. Embassy in Saigon believe that North Vietnam is about to launch a massive military campaign in an attempt to gain advantages for use at the negotiation table.

The lieutenant who defected was quoted as saying that the Communist battle plan against the northern frontier is considered so crucial that it is under the direction of the North Vietnamese Defense Ministry headed by Gen. Vo Nguyen Giap, the architect of the Communist victory over the French at Dien Bien Phu. Other sources said Giap has not been seen in Hanoi for one or two months, but that this has happened on other occasions.

In western Quang Tri, meanwhile, ground action was light Tuesday, but U.S. aircraft and artillery reportedly killed another 61 North Vietnamese around the U.S. Marine combat base at Khe Sanh. In the biggest action of the day, U.S. air cavalrymen said they killed 128 Viet Cong in an eight-hour battle on the Bong Son coastal plain, 200 miles southeast of the demilitarized zone.

The new Red division reported in Quang Tri gives the North Vietnamese three full divisions and possibly a fourth along South Vietnam's northern frontier, plus independent units that swell the total force to an estimated 40,000 to 50,000 men threatening allied strongpoints below the DMZ.

Hope Man Wounded in Vietnam

Pvt. David L. Kinkaid of Detroit, brother of Mrs. Billy Delaney and Mrs. Leroy Adams of Hope, was reported wounded in action in Vietnam Sunday, Jan. 21.

Pvt. Kinkaid talked to his family from an aircraft carrier hospital ship and said that his wounds were not considered critical. Kinkaid has been a frequent visitor to Hope and received his orders here to report to Vietnam Jan. 6.

Big Budget Asked for State Pen

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — The chairman of the state Penitentiary Board said Tuesday that Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller would ask the legislature next month to appropriate at least $1,750,000—part of which must come from a new tax source.

John H. Haley of Little Rock said he was drafting the legislation for the governor, and said part of the needed money would come by levying a documentary stamp tax, such as the one dropped last month by the federal government.

Appropriations are needed to offset a deficit in the state penitentiary budget and implement some of the recommendations of the state Penitentiary Study Commission, Haley said.

Haley predicted that the state prisons would never be self-supporting again.

Frank Holt Speaks to Hope Kiwanians

J. FRANK HOLT

"We are living in a nuclear age and an era when world peace each day becomes more perilous," stated Frank Holt Tuesday at the Kiwanis weekly meeting. Mr. Holt spoke on "The Heritage and Responsibilities of Americans." He was introduced by Program Chairman Dean Murphy.

Holt is a native of Harrison, graduate of the University of Arkansas School of Law and studied in Geneva, Switzerland for two years. He served for 6 years as prosecuting attorney in the 6th judicial district, two years as Attorney General of Arkansas, and three years as an Associate Justice of the Arkansas Supreme Court.

In his talk, Mr. Holt said, "The virtual annihilation of man and civilization is becoming more imminent and this is occasioned by the objectives of atheistic communism. Furthermore, a greater threat to our heritage is from within than it is the annual increasing crime rate, the mounting and flagrant disrespect for the law and open rebellion against our traditions." Mr. Holt continued, "Last We Forget? I think we, each of us, should each day count our blessings as Americans and rededicate ourselves to the American Legion motto - 'For God And Country' - and remember resolutely our heritage and attendant responsibilities. The teachings of God will prevent the moral deterioration and disrespect for our heritage that appears to be the trend in our nation today."

In closing his talk Mr. Holt said, "May God grant us the wisdom to properly value our rights and freedoms, to respect those of our fellowman, the guidance to make the right decisions in private and public matters and the patriotism to defend and preserve our heritage as the American veteran has always done and is doing now."

Guests of the club were Charlie Griffin, Lowell Little, Wayne Shutz, Dale Franks, David Bethea, John Draper, Donal Parker and five Kiwanis members from the Prescott club.

Wife Confident Navy Will Rescue Skipper of Captured Pueblo

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — The wife of the skipper of the Navy intelligence ship Pueblo said she is confident the Navy will do all in its power to ensure the safety of her husband and his crew.

Cmdr. Lloyd E. "Pete" Bucher, 38, is commanding officer of the Pueblo which was seized by North Korean patrol boats Tuesday.

"I sat down and started praying," Rose Bucher said, after she learned of the capture. "I prayed none of the crew would be hurt. Now all I can do is hope and pray for his safety."

Mrs. Bucher moved to San Diego with her two sons, Mark, 15, and Mike, 13, from their home in Jefferson, Mo., because orders were expected to bring the Pueblo back to San Diego this spring.

Mrs. Bucher last heard from her husband in a letter from Japan dated Jan. 10.

"He said he was leaving, that's all," she said.

She last saw him in November before he took the Pueblo, his first command, from San Diego to its base in Yokosuka, Japan.

Mrs. Bucher said her husband is a native of Pocatello, Idaho, and went to Boys Town, Neb., after he was orphaned.

He was graduated from high school at Boys Town, then went to the University of Nebraska. He enlisted in the Navy in 1950 in a program that allowed him to continue in college. He was graduated in 1952 and commissioned in the Navy.

He served mainly on submarines until taking command of the Pueblo a year ago when the ship was commissioned at Bremerton, Wash.

Pueblo Case Lifts Lid on Practice of Electronic Spying

By FRED S. HOFFMAN
AP Military Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Capture of the Pueblo by the North Koreans—and the Pentagon's acknowledgment the ship was a Navy intelligence vessel—lifts the official lid on worldwide electronic spying by the major powers.

It marks a drastic change from the Pentagon's insistence that the Liberty, a spy ship shot up by the Israelis off Egypt last June, was a "technical research ship."

"Intelligence collection by naval vessels is a routine activity among major powers," a defense official said Tuesday, indicating a more relaxed attitude toward suggestions the United States engages in this kind of activity.

"It is common knowledge that for a number of years intelligence collecting ships have followed U.S. fleet activities in various parts of the world," he added. The official obviously was alluding to the Soviet Union's terrier-like electronic eavesdropping vessels which show up wherever U.S. fleets are maneuvering and near important Polaris submarine and other bases.

Such ships, in the guise of fishing trawlers, are "in fact," he said, "intelligence gathering vessels."

WR Favors Bill for Mixed Drink

FAYETTEVILLE, Ark. (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller spoke out in strong support Tuesday night of a bill to legalize the sale of mixed drinks. The governor told 14 state legislators in a meeting here that he considered such a measure "vital" to the state's economy.

He said it would provide much-needed state revenues and help attract more tourist and convention business. It also would simplify enforcement of state liquor laws, he said.

The governor reiterated, however, that he would not include the bill in his call for a special session unless he were assured of its passage.

He said his mail from private citizens had been running "1,005 to 75" against the measure.

The governor also revealed that he was considering a capital improvements bond issue for the state prison system.

State Sen. Olen Hendrix suggested such a bond issue recently as the only way to finance construction needed at both Cummins and Tucker prisons.

The governor agreed with Hendrix that a bond issue could be supported with income from cash crops at the prison farms.

He didn't say whether legislation authorizing such a bond issue would be included in his call for a special session.

On another subject, Rockefeller said he thought Arkansas voters should be given a chance to decide whether the state needs a constitutional convention.

The State Constitutional Revision Study Commission proposed a convention and recommended that the legislature submit the question to voters in this year's general election.

A special legislative committee appointed by House Speaker Sterling R. Cockrill Jr. of Little Rock recommended recently that the General Assembly go ahead and call the convention.

The committee said this would leave voters free to concentrate on electing qualified delegates to the convention, and still give them an opportunity to vote on the document drafted by the convention.

Rockefeller met with the Northwest Arkansas legislators to discuss issues that might come up in the special session.

U.S. Aims to Rescue the S.S. Pueblo

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

SEOUL—The U.S. nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Enterprise and three escorts cruise toward the North Korean coast for a show of force to pressure the North Koreans into releasing the captured U.S. Navy spy ship Pueblo, South Korean troops kill nine more of the 31 North Korean commandos who invaded Seoul in an attempt to kill President Chung Hee Park, leaving 15 still at large.

PANMUNJOM, Korea—The North Korean delegate to the joint Korean military armistice commission ignores a U.S. demand for release of the Pueblo and its crew of 83. Maj. Gen. Park Choon-kook charges the Pueblo was trying to approach the coast to "perpetrate intolerable provocative acts" and opened fire on North Korean patrol boats.

WASHINGTON—Some members of Congress angrily call for immediate retaliation against North Korea. Others call for caution. The Pueblo is reported in the North Korean port of Wonsan with four crewmen wounded, one critically. The Pentagon denies she was inside the 12-mile limit North Korea puts on her territorial waters.

SAIGON—A senior U.S. officer reports North Vietnam has sent 10,000 more troops into the two northernmost provinces of South Vietnam in preparation for an offensive to "destroy American forces" and set the stage for peace negotiations.

U.S. planes and artillery kill 61 North Vietnamese around the Marine base at Khe Sanh, and U.S. air cavalrymen kill 128 Viet Cong in a battle on the coastal plain 200 miles southeast of the demilitarized zone.

But the head of the North Korean delegation there, Maj. Gen. Choon-kook, claimed the Pueblo violated North Korean territorial waters off Wonsan and was trying to "come closer to the land to perpetrate intolerable provocative acts" when North Korean navy vessels "returned fire."

Some congressmen called the Pueblo's takeover an act of war and there were suggestions from Capitol Hill that the United States retaliate.

Sources said the nuclear-powered Enterprise was accompanied by the nuclear frigate Truxton and two other combat ships.

Late Tuesday night the ships—diverted from a combat assignment off Vietnam—were southwest of Sasebo, Japan, and hours away from the North Korean port of Wonsan where the Pueblo was assumed held prisoner. In her last message, the Pueblo reported she had been told to follow four North Korean patrol boats into Wonsan.

A North Korean report monitored in Tokyo said the United States was trying to "ignite another war."

Ambassador William J. Porter informed Korean officials in Seoul the United States had decided to take "certain initial measures" following the seizure.

Sources in the Korean capital speculated that beyond the dispatching of a naval force, retaliatory military actions against North Korea "are not totally excluded."

Information Minister Hong Jong-chul of South Korea said the North Korean Communist regime "must prepare itself to pay due price for its inhumanity."

One Aim of N. Vietnam Is to Take Over

WASHINGTON (AP) — For three years and more it's been jabber-jabber-jabber, with nothing to show for it yet.

The one aim of the Viet Cong and the North Vietnamese is taking over South Vietnam. They have been stopped by the United States from doing it by force.

There are other possible ways: For example—a peace that let the Viet Cong become part of the South Vietnamese government.

Once they had their foot in the door then, by hook or crook, they might grab control. So far all their aims have been stopped.

Despite all the semantics about "could" and "would" and "will," this is the basic, unchanged position of both sides on how to start peace talks.

North Vietnam says the United States, unconditionally, must stop bombing the North and get its forces out of Vietnam altogether.

The United States says it will stop the bombing but not unconditionally. Before it stops, it wants assurances peace talks will start promptly.

North Vietnam has refused to give such assurance, says the United States can't lay down conditions and declares everything the United States says is a "trick."

The reason this country won't stop the bombing until it gets the assurances it insists upon is this:

Bombing won't win the war; but it does damage the North; this keeps a lot of North Vietnamese, who otherwise could be directly involved in the war, busy repairing damage; the bombing does put a dent in the men and supplies the North is sending South and all this is a help to U.S. ground forces in the South.

To stop the bombing, without assurances peace talks could start right away, would let the North pile up men and supplies for its forces in the South and put U.S. ground forces at a great disadvantage.

Instead of haggling three years, it might seem that if both sides wanted peace, or only if one did, peace talks could be arranged fast.

It's not that simple. If North Vietnam yielded to American demands it would be an admission it wanted or needed peace.

If the United States knuckled under to North Vietnam—particularly if it withdrew its forces—it would be an admission it had lost the heart and interest it used to have in stopping aggressive Communist expansion.

This in turn would be notification to the other non-Communist nations of Southeast Asia they could no longer expect American help against communism. The inevitable result: All Southeast Asia would fall to communism.

Underlying all this is a basic, selfish American motive: Unless the United States tries to stop Communist expansion while it can, communism will be left free to gobble up every nation in sight until in the end the United States has neither friends nor allies and is practically surrounded and helpless.

Month after month North Vietnam said that if the United States stopped the bombing and pulled its forces out of Vietnam, peace talks could start. For the United States this was too vague, too indefinite. It urged North Vietnam to be more positive and specific.

Finally, at the end of 1967, the North said peace talks "will" start if the United States stops the bombing and ceases all "aggression" against the North. President Johnson still wanted to know whether this meant peace talks would start promptly, once the bombing ended.

Constitution Backers Hit ALC Action

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—Three more proponents of a constitutional convention expressed fear Tuesday that a move by the state Legislative Council could jeopardize a proposed convention.

The object of their fears was the council's recommendation Monday that delegates to the convention be selected under an apportionment formula outlined by the U.S. Supreme Court's "one man, one vote" ruling.

The old apportionment method allowed one legislator from each of the 75 counties, with 25 additional seats allotted to the more populous counties. This gave the rural areas a higher percentage of representation.

Dr. Robert A. Leflar of Fayetteville, a law professor at the University of Arkansas and chairman of the Constitutional Revision Study Commission, said the selection system proposed by the council could tie up the convention in the courts.

His commission had suggested use of the current apportionment formula for selecting delegates. Leflar said this was a "sounder method of securing delegate representation from all the people."

State Rep. Cal Ledbetter Jr. of Little Rock said he felt the council's recommendation "is a great step backward."

"It seems to me that when we deal with anything as important as a constitutional convention, it should not be set up on a malportioned and inequitable basis," Ledbetter said.

State Rep. Charles M. Matthews of North Little Rock said the apportionment could unduly endanger the convention itself. "If it can be demonstrated that this recommendation would not unduly instigate a test court suit, then it has certain merit," Matthews said. "Otherwise . . . we should proceed along the clearest procedural path."

Henry Woods, a Little Rock attorney, started the verbal row with the council earlier Tuesday when he pointed out that the convention "might be attacked on the same basis that composition of the legislature was successfully attacked."

Cattlett Warns of GOP Thrust

LITTLE ROCK (AP)—State Democratic Party Chairman Leon Cattlett thanked one of his critics Tuesday for showing an interest in party affairs, but cautioned him to guard against being influenced by Republican members of his family.

Cattlett made public a letter he sent to Leroy Blankenship of Walnut Ridge, president of the Lawrence County Young Democrats, one of several YDC groups that have called for Cattlett to convene the party's state committee, or resign.

Cattlett has indicated he plans to do neither.

Cattlett thanked Blankenship for his interest, but pointed out that Blankenship's brother, Bill, was a "paid field representative of the Republican governor" for two years.

The party chairman also inquired about criticism of the weekly television program, "Info '68," which Blankenship's club had described as "ill-conceived and inept."

"You do not point out the fault you find with 'Info '68,'" Cattlett wrote. "Is it the content of the program, or is it the manner in which the program is presented?"

Cattlett, who previously had claimed to have thought of the program, said in his letter that "Democrats from over the state" conceived the program to point out the "disastrous conditions resulting from the bungled and inept actions of the opposite party."

"They agreed to finance these telecasts, which have brought to an interested audience facts of the infinitesimal amount of time the present chief executive devotes to the duties of his office," Cattlett wrote.

Blankenship, in an interview Tuesday with television station KARK-TV (Channel 4) in Little Rock, said he had received the letter, and that, "My thinking is controlled neither by my younger Republican brother nor my older Democratic brother."

He also pointed out that the letter sent to Cattlett had been from all the Lawrence County Young Democrats, not just him.

"We hope our views will be come those of the Democratic Party, and not simply those of a vocal minority," Blankenship said.

Government Is Having Trouble With Birds: 'On' to Old Records

By FRANK CORMIER
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House, which in previous years experienced the Case of the Kidnaped Squirrel and the Case of the Distressed Starlings now is involved in the Case of the Make-Believe Bongo.

There was a mysterious disappearance from the White House grounds of innumerable gray squirrels when Dwight D. Eisenhower was president.

Eventually the word leaked out: Groundkeepers were kidnapping the squirrels lest they disturb Eisenhower's backyard putting green, and were transporting them to new woodland freedom in the Virginia countryside.

Then, early in 1962, when John F. Kennedy was president, press secretary Pierre Salinger was asked why many a starling—a noisy and untidy bird—had disappeared from the stately trees surrounding the White House.

Salinger owned up: A recording of a distressed starling was being piped through three mounted loudspeakers, hopefully to warn fellow starlings away.

As Salinger disclosed in his memoirs, there was good reason for the effort—starlings respect neither historical landmarks like the White House, nor personages like the president.

"We all bought hats," he wrote.

The starling-in-distress recording has been resounding about the White House for more than five years—but the birds are still there in force.

The final mystery—The Case of the Make-Believe Bongo—is an example of the failure of the art of treetop high-fidelity.

Perhaps because the same record has been blaring for five years, there now seem to be more starlings than ever.

So a White House groundskeeper has been dispatched at dusk to walk about the front lawn with a stiff cardboard carton in one hand and a stick in the other.

But the more he beats the carton, or so it seems to those who have watched him, the more the lofty starlings amplify their squawks and magnify their other activities.

Republicans Hit Conduct of the War

WASHINGTON (AP)—Congressional Republicans charge that gradualism and vacillation by President Johnson have prolonged the Vietnam war.

On the home front, the GOP says administration policies have failed to combat mounting crime and inflation. In their answer to President Johnson's State of the Union message, the Republicans called for "military success" in the war based on "effective utilization" of U.S. air and sea power.

And Republicans criticized "complacency, disunity and protest here at home" while warning the nation is losing the strategic superiority they claimed was built under Republican leadership during the 1950s.

The GOP spokesmen also renewed calls for reductions in federal spending and a transfer of programs from the national government to states and localities.

The Republican reply, featuring nine House members and eight senators, was carried live Tuesday night on the CBS radio-television networks.

Republican governors, numbering 26 of the nation's 50, were not included in the presentation, which was introduced by former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and had Sen. George Murphy, R-Calif., as master of ceremonies.

An audience of Republican congressmen and senators in the auditorium of a Senate office building clapped enthusiastically before and after each speech, interrupting more than 50 times with applause.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen, who has given firm backing to President Johnson's Vietnam policies in previous years, was absent because of illness. Sen. John G. Tower carried the GOP banner on the war issue.

The Texas Republican accused the Johnson administration of following what he termed "a self-defeating policy of gradualism" which he said "caused us to pull our punches; it prolonged the fighting; it cost American lives unnecessarily."

"This war could be over today if the Johnson Administration had acted with determination instead of with vacillation," he added.

Tower said Republicans stand for "military success in Vietnam that will enable the Vietnamese to rebuild a free nation," for "effective utilization of America's vast air and sea superiority" and for "quarantine of the enemy's supply lines so that he can no longer fight."

Sen. Peter H. Dominick, R-Colo., charged: "This administration has developed a strange new doctrine—that Soviet strategic equality is better than American supremacy."

Rep. Charlotte T. Reid, R-Ill., one of whose two sons left for Vietnam last week, said she believes that "not only all parents, but all thinking Americans, are as deeply distressed as I am by complacency, disunity and protest here at home."

Jobless Program to Face Fight

By JOE HALL
Associated Press Writer
WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson's enlistment of private enterprise in a drive against hard-core unemployment has won guarded endorsements from labor and industry. Congress seems friendly, too, but may balk at giving him the full $2.1 billion he seeks.

The National Association of Manufacturers, saying industry has achieved good results in this area, questioned the need for a federal program.

Johnson's goal, stated Monday, is to create 500,000 jobs for hard-core unemployed in the nation's 15 biggest cities. The three-year program isn't expected to have a significant impact on slum restlessness this summer.

Johnson named about a dozen top business leaders to a National Alliance of Businessmen which will work with the government on the program. Henry Ford II, board chairman of the Ford Motor Co., will head it.

Under the program, the government would pinpoint the hard-core unemployed and private business would provide the training, aided by federal funds.

George Meany, president of the AFL-CIO, said the 14-million-member labor federation will support Johnson's manpower proposals. But he said that to reach the ultimate goal of full employment "the government must be the employer of last resort."

He said Congress would have to enact legislation creating one million public service jobs if the problem of hard-core unemployment is to be solved.

Meany also said the President's proposal needs "careful policing" to assure that federal job-training money isn't used as a "disguised wage subsidy" to business.

Allan Shivers, president of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce, welcomed Johnson's "decision to try to develop job opportunities in private enterprise for the hard-core unemployed rather than to create public jobs through government financing."

But Shivers added: "No job program should promise more than it can deliver."

He said job programs "should not be promoted as guarantees against civil disorder. The facts from Watts, Detroit and other cities show there is not necessarily a correlation between unemployment and riots."

W. P. Gullander, president of the National Association of Manufacturers, expressed hope "industry will have an equal voice in planning and managing the program."

But he expressed reservations, saying industry "has achieved significant results in this field and can look forward to continued improvement."

"We question the need of a major new federal program involving further regulations," Gullander added.

In Congress, it appeared certain the Senate and House Labor Committees would endorse legislation authorizing Johnson's program.

But the appropriations committees, which provide the actual cash, appeared likely to balk at the $2.1 billion figure, especially if budget-cutting fever runs strong again this year.

A substantial part of the funds will come under the anti-poverty program, a big target of economic advocates last year.

However, Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield said he thinks Congress will support the full request.
